

Mock Interviews

One Mock Interview Session Can Make the Difference Between Impressing the Potential Employer and Being Just Another Interview

Our mock interviews:

- Are confidential
- Are taped to allow you to personally review your performance
- Provide insider tips to capitalize on your strengths
- Ease the nervousness of interviewing

You will “interview” for the position of your choice with one of our staffing specialists. All specialists have extensive interviewing experience. We will delve into information pertinent to the position you are applying for, so bring a copy of the job description if you have an upcoming interview, or choose from the many fabricated job descriptions available at our office. All interviews are tailored to meet your specific needs.

Ever wonder just how you look during an interview? Are you acting professional or just embarrassing yourself? This information-filled consultation includes a taped mock interview so you can personally review and critique your interview skills. Your mock interview session also includes a professional consultation and insider tips for improving your interview technique. After the interview, our staffing specialist will go over your strengths and weaknesses and teach you how to build upon your strengths and minimize your weaknesses.

Finally, you will be given an opportunity to view your interview session. This helps you identify those strengths and weaknesses mentioned during the consultation. Additionally, you will be able to reformulate answers to specific questions and improve body language.

Interviews are what finally get you the position you want.
Practice makes perfect and TES Mock Interview Sessions are the perfect way to improve much needed interview skills.
